Who is this for?

Health & safety managers/supervisors employed by large organisations operating outside the UK and employees of multinational companies needing to adapt international standards to accord with local needs and practice. Learners are recommended to have already completed an IOSH course prior to enrolment.

Overview

The NEBOSH International General is designed for managers, supervisors, worker representatives and others who require an understanding of health and safety principles and practices.

Candidates are likely to be employees of large organisations operating outside of the UK, or of multinational companies needing to adapt international standards to accord with local needs & practice. The syllabus omits specific reference to any national legal requirements, but instead focuses on international standards, in particular ILO codes of practice. In common with the national award the syllabus is structured according to a recognised management framework.

Did you know?

This qualification is excellent pre-study material for the NEBOSH International Diploma and Technical Oil & Gas certificate courses. The content and examination preparation can increase your potential pass marks by up to 25%.
